

ABSTRACT

An electroluminescent element includes a pair of positive electrode and negative electrode facing each other, and at least one phosphor layers formed between the pair of positive electrode and negative electrode. At least one of the phosphor layers is composed of a phosphor layer and a wide band-gap semiconductor layer. The semiconductor layer or the phosphor layer constituting the phosphor layer may be a partially discontinuous layer.